Commodity ADTO is calculated based on notional turnover across MCX, NCDEX and NCE.

Retail turnover market share for Commodity is calculated using notional turnover across MCX and NCE.

FY27 Q2 underscored the underlying depth of our user franchise amid a challenging market environment. Although subdued market activity led to a sequential moderation in average daily orders, our core business metrics remained healthy. We maintained our turnover market share in equity derivatives, expanded the client funding book to a record high, and sustained robust SIP momentum. In the commodities segment, ADTO grew 105.5% YoY, although our market share softened as the market expanded significantly.

While cash market share moderated in September 2026, exit trends improved, with sequential growth in average daily orders and turnover market share across overall equities and equity derivatives.
