Rationale and key rating drivers

Reaffirmation of ratings for L&T Finance Limited's (LTF's) long-term and short-term instruments reflects its diversified product mix and granular loan book, strong fundraising capability with diverse funding sources, and expectations of continued business growth momentum. As of March 31, 2026, LTF's assets under management (AUM) rose to ₹1,21,728 crore from ₹97,762 crore a year earlier, with retail loans constituting ~98.2% of advances. By June 30, 2026, LTF's AUM reached ₹1,29,634 crore, with 97.5% in retail loans.

Ratings continue to favourably factor in LTF's strong ties with and strategic significance to Larsen & Toubro (L&T), as reflected in shared branding and representation of L&T executives on LTF's Board and key committees. CARE Ratings Limited (CareEdge Ratings) expects need-based support from L&T to continue. Ratings also consider LTF's experienced management, adequate capital structure, and strong liquidity profile.

However, these strengths are somewhat offset by moderate, though steady, asset quality, considering the company's exposure to relatively riskier asset classes or unsecured business segments.

Outlook: Stable

'Stable' outlook reflects CareEdge Ratings' expectation that the company will remain strategically important for L&T and will continue receiving need-based support. Also, the company is expected to report a healthy business growth complemented by strong resource raising ability.

Detailed description of key rating drivers
Key strengths
Strong parentage and strategic importance to the parent company/Group

LTF, the financial services arm of the L&T Group, is 65.96% owned by L&T and plays a key strategic role within the group. This importance is reflected in the shared brand and representation of L&T executives on LTF's Board and major committees. S.N. Subrahmanyam, L&T's Chairman and Managing Director, serves as Chairman and Non-Executive Director of LTF, while R. Shankar Raman, L&T's President, Whole-time Director - Finance, serves as Non-Executive Director on LTF's Board. L&T provides oversight through Board and committee participation, including the Risk Management, Nomination and Remuneration, and Audit Committees. LTF benefits from regular capital infusions and support from L&T. The company's ratings remain supported by its relationship with L&T, and significant weakening in L&T's credit profile, dilution in strategic ties or support would be a credit negative.

Diversified product profile

To support its strategy of building a more granular portfolio diversified across different asset classes, LTF gradually increased its retail portfolio share to 98.2% as of March 31, 2026. Under the 'Lakshya 2031' strategy, LTF continues to focus on expanding its granular retail loan book and increasing digitisation across all operations. The retail book has grown at 25% compound annual growth rate (CAGR) in the last three years, reaching ₹1,19,508 crore as on March 31, 2026 (₹1,27,535 crore as on June 2026). LTF's retail portfolio is well-diversified, with rural group loans and microfinance at 25%, farm equipment finance at 14%, housing loan (HL)/loan against property (LAP) at 25%, two-wheeler loans at 12%, personal loans at 12%, SME finance at 7%, gold loans at 2%, acquired portfolio at 1% and wholesale finance at 2%. The company is among the leading lenders in farm equipment, two-wheeler, and rural group loans, forming ~51% of the retail book. Secured: unsecured AUM mix for LTF stood at 56:44 as on March 31, 2026.

CareEdge Ratings notes the elevated growth in disbursements to ~38% year-on-year [PY: 7%, due to cautious curtailment in rural micro loans in sync with industry wide stress], reaching ₹83,226 crore in FY26, indicating uptick in company's growth momentum.

Going forward, CareEdge Ratings expects LTF's AUM to grow at around 20% during FY27.

Comfortable capital position

LTF's capital adequacy ratio (CAR) and Tier-I CAR as of March 31, 2026, stood at ~18.34% and 17.60%, respectively (PY: 22.27% and 20.76%, respectively). The company's capitalisation levels are supported by improving internal accruals with increasing retailisation. Return on net worth (RONW) improved slightly in FY26 at 12.82% from 11.79% in FY25. The company's gearing (borrowings/tangible net worth) stood at ~4.37x as of March 31, 2026 (March 31, 2025: 3.97x; March 31, 2024: 3.62x). CareEdge Ratings anticipates gearing to increase in FY27, but remain below 5x. The company expects planning for a capital infusion in FY28.

The company's capital structure is further strengthened by demonstrated support from L&T and expectations of need-based support in future.

Diversified funding avenues with strong resource raising ability

Strong linkages and shared brand name with L&T enable LTF to raise resources at competitive rates and tenors. The company has a well-diversified resource profile base as on June 30, 2026, which comprised bank loans (55%) [June 2025: 48%], NCD (22%) [June 2025: 31%], commercial papers (5%) [June 2025: 8%], external commercial borrowing (ECB) (8%) [June 2025: 8%] and others (10%) [June 2025: 5%]. A significant portion of its bank borrowings (26% as on June 2026) qualify for priority sector lending, giving LTF a funding cost advantage due to its rural finance presence. The company's weighted average cost of borrowings was 7.35% in FY26 (Q1FY27: 7.20%), supported by a higher share of commercial papers and low-cost PSL borrowings.

The company has historically demonstrated its ability to raise long-term funding from broad-based sources, which is expected to continue going forward.

Key weaknessesModerate asset quality

While LTF's asset quality metrics have improved due to a shrinking wholesale portfolio in the last few years, overall asset quality remains moderate. The retail book includes exposure to riskier segments such as rural business finance, unsecured urban loans, and two-wheeler financing, which are sensitive to economic shocks. The unsecured micro, small and medium enterprise (MSME) product is relatively new and is yet to witness a full business cycle.

As of March 31, 2026, gross Stage III (GS3) and net Stage III (NS3) ratios stood at 2.88% and 0.96%, respectively (PY: 3.29% and 0.97%, respectively). LTF's retail GS3 ratio stood at 2.53% (compared to 2.90% a year earlier). In FY26 and Q1FY27, the retail book witnessed an improvement in delinquencies, primarily due to strengthened with the implementation of underwriting engine Cyclops. Given the company's strategy to run down its wholesale business, the wholesale portfolio has been shrinking owing to resolutions and sell-downs. As of March 31, 2026, the wholesale book stood at ₹2,220 crore (PY: ₹2,582 crore).

LTF's asset quality risks are partially mitigated by strict underwriting standards and focused data analytics, which enable early detection of stress and timely corrective action to maintain portfolio health. The company has a conservative provisioning policy, providing sufficient buffers; as of June 30, 2026, the company's provision coverage ratio (PCR) for Stage III stood at ~69% (March 2026: 67%; March 2025: 71%). Moreover, the Stage III PCR for rural business finance exposures stood at ~90% as of June 30, 2026. The company's NS3/tangible net worth (TNW) as of March 31, 2026, stood at 4.50% compared to 4% as of March 31, 2025.

The company's ability to curtail credit costs and maintain asset quality metrics will remain a key monitorable.

Liquidity: Strong

Per the asset liability management (ALM) dated June 30, 2026, there are positive cumulative mismatches across the near-to medium term time buckets. The company had unencumbered liquidity in the form of cash, FDs and other liquid investments to the tune of ₹12,345 crore as on June 30, 2026, apart from unutilised bank lines to the tune of ₹7,810 crore. Combining these, the company-maintained liquidity cover of 168% for scheduled debt repayments inclusive of interest for the next three months. LTF's strong resource raising capability and financial flexibility provides additional comfort.

Assumptions/Covenants

Environment, social, and governance (ESG) risks

Although LTF's service-oriented business model limits its direct exposure to environmental risks, credit risk may arise if operations of asset class of the portfolio are adversely impacted by environmental factors.

Social risks in the form of a cybersecurity threat or customer data breach or mis-selling practices can affect LTF's regulatory compliance and reputation and hence remain a key monitorable.

In FY26, LTF successfully maintained a record of zero cyber incidents and regularly conducted employee training sessions to strengthen awareness and readiness. The organization has consistently led the way in adopting sustainability practices, often surpassing regulatory requirements, and has established a robust framework to manage ESG-related risks.

LTF's Board comprises ten Directors, with four Independent Directors, and also includes two female Directors.
